A Letter from the Librarians

In these difficult economic times, the national need for libraries is becoming increasingly evident. For hundreds of years, our nation's libraries have provided free access to thousands of books, periodicals, and other printed material. In the 21st century, libraries have strived to remain pertinent in the Age of Technology. Columbia County's libraries offer free eAudiobooks, computer classes, author events, teen activities, children's story-times, book clubs, in addition to the thousands of book and DVD titles.

As this year comes to a close, we'd like to take some time to thank you, the patrons of the Columbia County Libraries, for your support and continued interest in our services. We work hard to keep our libraries current and make ourselves relevant in our growing communities. Our libraries continue to top Richmond County's libraries for total circulation. This year our county surpassed Richmond County by 92,000 titles! Way to go!!! We look forward to seeing you in 2011!

Sincerely,

The Columbia County Library Staff
